

UDAF's COVID-19 Food Establishment Permit Guidelines for Farmers Markets
UPDATE - Issued April 29, 2021

Please be advised that Food Establishment Permits for Farmers Markets do not supersede more restrictive city or county permitting authority or public health orders. Farmers Markets requesting Food Establishment Permits must meet with their local health department before Food Establishment Permits will be issued.

Farmers markets are an essential part of our local food systems providing direct sales outlets for farmers and ranchers to access potential consumers who can purchase safe, local produce and other locally produced agricultural products. Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) users benefit from shopping at farmers markets as they are able to double the dollar value for fresh food purchases.

Because the Utah Department of Agriculture and Food (UDAF) will continue to issue "Food Establishment Permits" required by Utah farmers markets, we are distributing these guidelines, which must be implemented in order for a farmers market to receive a Food Establishment Permit.

While UDAF is committed to affecting the state's most recent COVID-19 guidelines, be aware that these policies may be modified in the interest of public health or at the Governor's direction. Permit holders agree to be bound by the regulations currently in place, or any future guidelines established in the interest of public health or at the Governor's direction, and understand that failure to follow the guidelines may result in the loss of a permit.

For purposes of this directive, a "farmers market" means a market where a producer of a food product sells only a fresh, raw, whole, unprocessed, and unprepared food item UCA 4-5-102 (6). If a farmers market includes the sales of processed or prepared foods such as cheese, meat, or bottled foods, they are required to obtain a Food Establishment Permit from UDAF, and vendors selling processed or prepared foods must also be registered with UDAF, and display their company's Permit at their booth.

- One handwashing station or hand sanitizer station is required per every five booths
- Booths must be 10' apart
- Farmers markets are required to enforce CDC social distancing recommendations of at least 6' apart, and provide marked spacing to ensure compliance
- Farmers markets directors/managers should consider limiting/metering the number of people allowed access to the market to help prevent people from grouping
- Farmers markets should encourage "tap" or online payment options when possible
- Vendors shall change gloves and sanitize point-of-sale equipment between transactions
- All vendors are required to wear gloves; those who collect money must not handle food items
- The farmers market area shall be delineated to provide shoppers and vendors with a 6' social distance.

- Farmers market vendor offerings are limited to: prepackaged meats, cheeses, raw fruits, vegetables and other agricultural products
- Farmers Markets shall not have art/craft vendors unless approved by their local health department
- Farmers markets shall not have food sampling, unless the samples are prepackaged
- Farmers markets shall not have food service vendors unless approved by their local health department
- Vendors (selling fresh produce) may only sell whole, uncut produce
- The wearing of face masks by vendors and shoppers is required if 50 people or more are in attendance. For less than 50 people it is at the discretion of the organization sponsoring the farmers market.
- Farmers markets are encouraged to maintain their existing nutrition incentive programs (i.e. SNAP, Double-up Food Bucks)
- Vendors who do sell pre-package products are required to be registered with the Utah Department of Agriculture and display their company's current Food Establishment Permit at their booth
